

Coming into Bloom

Every week the insanely talented photographer and writer Tracey Clark hosts “Best Shot Monday.” She picks a theme and we post a photo on that theme. I edited this photo last night after snapping a shot of some cherry blossoms peppered with raindrops in Brea. Then I waited for Tracey to pick her theme this morning, assured that we would be on the same wavelength, and we are.

Her theme today is “Coming into Bloom.”

Sigh

I have many new projects blooming this spring. Thanks for reading my blog and encouraging me with your emails and comments...stay tuned.

Take a look at my photo at OC Family:

So that’s what’s at the end of the rainbow.