

Daily Photo: Moon sliver over Anaheim Stadium

There's something almost majestic about passing Anaheim Stadium when it's filled for a game. I snapped this out the car window on the way to our first Ducks game of the season. I will post about it tomorrow.

If you want to catch up on my newfound love of hockey as preparation, you can read these stories I wrote for the Orange County Register:

"My (totally) Lame Ducks Story"

"Girl-me vs. Hockey-me at the Ducks Game"