

It's Business Time

Thank you all for being so voracious in your opinion about my blog. Here is the outcome from all of your comments and emails:

*I've brought back the music...see Ella over there? But, it won't start automatically (happy Chris?), press play and dance or hum or do whatever it is you do when you read my blog.

*My picture won't be returning to the opening page. Too much, me, me, me.

Thanks again for reading my blog! I love that you love reading me. I will keep you posted on some new exciting opportunities coming my way..."I'm probably going to have to keep my normal job though..."
