

Five Ways to Spot an Orange County Girl in LA

..inspired by my recent trip to Santa Monica

- 1) She whips-out her Handi Wipes and Purell at least three-times an hour.
- 2) When a salesperson or waitress finds out she is from Orange County and asked if she is like the “Real Housewives of Orange County,” she responds, “Only when I get poor service.”
- 3) Keeps referring to the street performers and artists as “Those poor souls.”
- 4) Brighton roller luggage, Juicy sweat suit, “upgraded” wedding ring, blended Mocha, slight look of worry mixed with excitement.
- 5) Has full-fledged panic attack when faced with the reality she has to parallel park her Escalade.