

Yet Another Social Networking Site...

I have joined yet another social networking site... You can now visit me at MySpace. You can also find me at Facebook and Friendster and Classmates. I am told I need to get AIM too. Someone stop me, I've become a serial "joiner." I hate the thought of being left out of something. I mean there is no mandate that you have to join them all is there?