

Orange County Wild Fires

(Photo by Jana Mitchell)

My house is not in harm's way. Thanks everyone who has emailed or called me to check if we're okay—we are! My friend Jana took this picture from the 91 Freeway this morning headed toward Redlands from Orange County. She's just fine, too.

Marcy over at "The Glamorous Life" lives in Yorba Linda and her house is close to the flames. She has been updating her blog with photos and personal stories. You can go to her site HERE.

To follow the fires on Twitter go to the Orange County Register's Twittering Page. (Yay! for Twitter.) You can also follow Kevin Sabalan of the Orange County Register on Twitter, he is linking and giving the latest every few minutes.

The Orange County Register is providing extensive and helpful coverage. (Well done Sonya Smith who is on the web desk, according to her Twitter updates.)

Please pray for the people of Orange and Los Angeles Counties and the firefighters who are working to protect them tonight.
