

The 10 all-time best make out songs, ever **

*Sort of.

When I started to compile this list I thought it would be easy. "The 10 all-time best make out songs, ever?" No problem. But, then, after firmly placing three songs on the list, the task became overwhelming to me. The gravity and importance of the chore became more than I could handle alone.

So I reached out—like most people do in time of need—to my friends on Facebook. I asked my friends there to help me pick songs. Then I asked my friends on Twitter to join in with their choices.

It became tragically clear to me after about twenty comments that none of my friends on either of the networks have had a proper make out session since 1991, or even before that time.

Not one song from the last decade and a half was offered—even by me. Leaving me with a list of songs that could easily be a mixed tape made for you by your 11th-grade boyfriend (or girlfriend).

This list is a generation thing—made-up of memories from a time when the words and music seemed like they were created just for us.

So for me and my generation (35-45ish) this is the list I compiled with your help—thanks.

- 1.) Led Zeppelin "Kashmir"
- 2.) Roxy Music "More than this"
- 3.) Mazzy Star "Fade into you"
- 4.) When in Rome "The promise"

5.) Barry White "Never gonna give you up"

6.) Peter Gabriel "In your eyes"

7.) ELO "Telephone"

8.) Style Council "You're the best thing that ever happened"

9.) Squeeze "Tempted"

10.) Rod Stewart "Tonight's the night"

Click on this lovely arrow below to listen to all the songs.

I already see some obvious omissions and kind of regret ever taking this on...Ah,ha! I forgot "Take me on!" See!