

The Glamourous Life: G.I.R.L's party

Today is my friend Marcy's G.I.R.L. (Glamorous In Real Life) party on her blog. All the participants submit one "not-so-glamorous" story about their "not-so-glamorous" life. It's kind of like a domestic disaster dogpile.

I used my story about the curse that is laundry.

Read my "Oh, the laundry Gods must be mad at me."

If you're a blogger, you can go to Marcy's site and throw down your own story.

...and there's Marcy now at a thrift shop in Orange modeling some poor girl's prom dress from...oh, I'd say...1988. All she needs is pink frost lipstick—VERY GLAMOUROUS.