

Broughton Quarterly is out and “wowing” the masses

The new issue of Broughton Quarterly is here. This latest issue features a story about blues legend Buddy Guy. I haven't ever been a fan of Blues music. But after reading the article and then making this iMix for BQ I have become a true believer—at least in Buddy Guy. Pay particular attention to his version of “Ain't no Sunshine” with Tracy Chapman. So good.

Also in this issue I featured some clogs in “Clog Heaven” because I am a true-blue clogs fan and I don't care who know it. Oh, oh and check out Eric's sketch of things to do in Palm Springs.

If you want to subscribe to Broughton Quarterly simply click HERE and it will magically appear in your mailbox four times a year.