

Swanky Palm Springs Weekend

Getting ready for a swanky weekend in Palm Springs with my girlfriends. It is our bi-yearly get-away without kids and husbands. Palm Springs is one of those places that actually lives up to its retro reputation.

We are going to eat at Bing Crosby's Restaurant and Piano Bar on Saturday night.

I am hoping to talk the girls into stopping by M Modern Gallery while there. It is having its Annual Tiki Exhibit along with a solo show by Derek Yaniger, who I like very much and not just because he describes himself as a "toothless hillbilly," but that does add to his appeal.

We fled to Santa Monica at Christmas—Read Santa Monica Weekend Here.
