

Confession

When someone is talking and I say, "That's interesting," it means I don't think it is interesting.

If I think what they are saying is really, truly interesting, I won't say anything at all. I'll just listen.