

Get It Done Before The Huddled, Frenzied Masses

I have started my Christmas shopping. I like to get it all done long before the huddled, frenzied masses even begin. I enjoy spending the days of December telling everyone, "Oh, I've been done since Thanksgiving." I am a real scrooge that way...

I have been waiting for Rock Scissors Paper to release all of their holiday items, which they promised in Sept., but must still be putting their magical touches on. They have released a few items that I have ordered (yes, already).

Here is a sample of some of their unique holiday collection.

Wrapping Paper

Just realizing, should have sent this before the school's gift wrap blitz.

They also have some very nice personalized stationery that makes a great gift.
