

The Hoff Foundation

My cyber friend, Chris, at Dharma Bum is not only the most prolific BlackBerry picture-taker in Orange County (see his website here), he is also a passionate believer/supporter of the Orange County Art Scene. (See his OTHER website The OC Art Blog.)

Chris and his beautiful wife, Michele, announced today they have established The Hoff Foundation, a private foundation to help support artists & arts organizations based in Orange County or Long Beach.

Please take a look at the website for more information, here.

Thanks Chris and Michele for caring about something other than Britney and the housing market.