

This weekend on The Mom Blog, on “Mommy’s Mind Is Not A Toy”

I am going on The Disney Cruise on Thursday, did I not mention that? I can’t believe I haven’t. I am starting to confuse real life conversations with what I write on my blog—scary virtual boundary issues happening.

I wrote about buying a swimsuit in March and used some unforgivable puns on The Mom Blog at ocregister.com: The Moms of the Caribbean: The Curse of Having To Wear a Swimsuit in March.