

You know you were at teenager in Orange County in the 80's if...

Today in The Orange County Register I wrote "You know you were a teenager in Orange County in the 80's if..."

But, even if you aren't from Orange County, you might still like this trip through a time when synthesizers ruled the school and your room was plastered with Duran Duran posters.

To read the story simply click here...

Back story: For reasons only known to him, Keith Sharon, my editor, didn't post this picture of the Golden Bear I took THE day it was torn down—that very day.

You can just feel old HB in the photo...I'm pretty sure this was taken with a 110 camera—now that I think of it, probably why Keith didn't post, never mind.

